Naoki: Hi, Ellie. What are you going to do this weekend?

Ellie: I'm going to Hausutenbosu in Nagasaki with my family.

Naoki: Sounds fun! I have been there twice. It's really fantastic. How are you going to get there?
By plane?

Ellie: No, we're going by Shinkansen and train. I have never taken the Shinkansen before, so I'm going to take it for the first time.

Naoki: I'm sure it will be a good memory for you.

Question: How many times has Naoki been to Hausutenbosu?

(2)

Ellie: You like taking pictures, right? You have taken so many pictures.

Naoki: My grandfather gave me an old camera. But it's a little big.

Ellie: But it looks so cool! Wow, this picture is so beautiful! The flowers are so colorful. I'm surprised.

Naoki: I'm happy to hear that.

Ellie: Oh? This picture has no color. Did you take this picture of the girl with the same camera?

Naoki: Yes, I did. But the film was different. She is my sister. This black and white picture is my favorite.

Question: Which picture is Naoki's favorite?

(3)

Naoki: It's raining again today. I'm really bored.

Ellie: Yes. How many days has it been raining?

Naoki: It has been raining for five days.

Ellie: But the weather report on TV said tomorrow will be sunny.

Naoki: Really? I'm so happy. By the way, is it rainy in Australia, too?

Ellie: No. It snowed in Australia yesterday. My aunt told me that when she called.

Naoki: What? Snow in summer?

Ellie: It's winter in Australia now!

Naoki: Oh, right! Japan and Australia have opposite seasons. I remember now.

Question: What was the weather in Japan and Australia yesterday?
